disclaimer

Please read before use our info, materials & maintenance document which can be downloaded from our website dumoffice.com

Our wooden products may contain small, healthy, closed knots that have developed naturally in the growing wood. This limits excessive rejection and thus prevents material waste.

Lacquered or stained wood products can have variable varnish absorption, stain absorption and/or surface structure due to differences in the wood structure and knots. For bended wooden furniture, we use solid wood that has not been treated with solvents or chemicals. Consequently, there may be color differences between the various parts. This is a natural feature of steam-bended wood.

Veneer is a thin layer of wood and like solid wood, it is a natural product with all the associated properties. No two veneer sheets are identical.

All these deviations cannot be avoided and will therefore not be accepted as ground for complaints.

This price list is made with utmost care. However we don't assume any liability for the correctness, completeness and currentness of the information provided.
